- promotes creativity, collaboration, and problem-solving in an immersive environment
- a 360 degrees, experiential environment with forests, rivers, mountains, and deep oceans, biomes, weather conditions and animals.

Why Minecraft: Education Edition?

- a game-based learning platform that builds STEAM and social-emotional skills, unleashing creativity and inspire project-based learning.
- offers security multiplayer to allow to work together and assessment features
- contains tools for documentation like the Camera and Book & Quill for screenshots and pdf export

Download Minecraft: Education Edition

- Minecraft: Education Edition needs to be downloaded and installed on the device you are using
- Supported platforms for Minecraft: Education Edition are Windows 7, 8.1, 10, and 11, Macs, iPads, Chromebooks and Mobile
- Download here?

Sign In Minecraft: Education Edition

- It's necessary to have an Office 365 Minecraft license to sign in
- Sign in with your E-Mail and password

Settings

Once you sign in, you'll see a center menu of buttons. Click here to access the settings.

In the settings, you have the option of adjusting the audio or music volume, for example. You can adjust the volume to suit your preferences or the requirements of the Minecraft environment.

Settings

On to the right you'll see your name and a button with a clothes hanger on it. Select that clothes hanger button to open a library of what are called skins. A skin is your appearance in the game and a valued part of Minecraft: Education Edition. Skins allow users to feel connected to their character.

To the right of each pack category, you'll see a plus symbol. Selecting that will expand that skin pack to select one you like. Once you select a skin you like, select Confirm and the back arrow to get to the main menu again.

Come into our Minecraft World

- Open Minecraft: Education Edition.
- Click on the 'Play' button center screen on the main menu.

- To open our world, import the downloaded .mc file
- The world is now accessible in “my worlds”

- Click on the Game and press “play”. The Game will start. (it is possible that you might download some packages. That is OK. You need them to play the game.)

Vocabulary

- Game-based learning is leveraging games for learning.
- Gamification is the application of game-design elements and game principles into non-game contexts.

- The inventory is the pop-up menu that the player uses to manage items they carry. From this screen a player can equip armor, craft items on a 2×2 grid, and equip tools, blocks, and items.

- A skin is a texture that is placed on an avatar that allows players to customize the game.

- Non player characters (abbreviated as NPCs) is a peaceful creature. They are exclusive to Education Edition and Bedrock Edition. They serve to enliven the environment and provide information.

Vocabulary

- Blocks are the basic units of structure in Minecraft that make up the game's world. Many blocks can be collected and placed anywhere in the game's world, as well as be used as helpful resources.

- Breaking, digging, punching, or mining is a common activity in Minecraft, performed (by default) by holding the left mouse button or right trigger while the cursor is pointing at a block, or by long-pressing on the block on touch screens. Breaking is used to create passages, tunnels and clear away unwanted blocks, and is the primary way of acquiring blocks for future placement or crafting.

- Place, placement is adding a block. Blocks are placed wherever your cursor is pointed at in the world.

Keyboard Controls

Physically moving your player, use the keyboard's     keys.

Press and hold to walk forward.

Press and hold to walk backward.

Press and hold to move left.

Press and hold to move right.

Jumping can be accomplished by pressing the , twice for flying.

Inventory (gathering items for building)

Sneak

Movement with the mouse:

Consider the mouse as your head and the keys your body. If you need to look left, move your mouse to the left. Follow the same steps when looking right, looking down, and looking up.

The left mouse button is used to mine or break blocks. This is how we build. The right is to talk to characters as you come close to them with your crosshair point, or to place or use whatever is in hand.

Open your inventory

Backpack (Things you can store and not actively use during gameplay)

Hotbar (Things you can always use during playing)

- Press E on your keyboard to open your Inventory - or you might think of it as your Everything-tory.
- Here you can manage the items you carry. You'll be able to select, drag, and swap items to be used in your backpack.
- You can also equip armor, craft items on a 2×2 grid, and equip tools, blocks, and items.

Place and Break Blocks

Place a block

Select in your hotbar the block you want to place. Point the mouse cursor (the little PLUS in the middle of the screen) of the place you wanna place the block and press and click the left mouse button.

Break a block

Split, Drag and Drop Items

Game 1 - HISTORY OF BANKING AND IMPORTANCE OF INTEREST

- 19th Century, you are a mineworker
- Earn 35 coins while learning about why banks were created, the importance of interest and how to profit from it

- Players will work as a Mine Worker
- Players will farm gold, buy new tools and change gold to coins
- Players will be raided and have to learn, how to save money with the help of the bank

Game 1 - Additional Learning Content - Interest

What is interest?

- Let's say you need some money to buy something important, like a new bike. You could ask someone to give ("lend") you the money and promise to pay them back later. They might agree to give you the money, but ask for something in return, like paying them back with a little extra money, called interest.
- For example, in case people want to borrow money from the bank, they have to pay the bank back not only the money they borrowed, but also some extra money on top of that, also called "interest". Usually, people borrow money from banks through loans, credits etc. So, for example if you borrow €100 from a bank, you will usually have to pay back more than €100, depending on the actual interest rate.
- For example, a bank will pay you interest when you deposit your money in a savings account. The bank pays you to hold and use your money to invest in other transactions. Conversely, if you borrow money to pay for a large expense, the lender(the bank) will charge you interest on top of the amount you borrowed.
- Therefore, if you put your money in a bank, the bank will give you a little bit of extra money on top of what you already have, just for keeping your money with them. This extra money is called "interest." So, for example, if you have €100 in the bank and the interest rate is 5%, the bank will give you an extra €5 as interest after a year.

Why does a bank pay interest?

- Money borrowed from a bank can be used for investment purposes – you invest in your business, in education etc., but it will always come with a downside. The downside is the fact that you will have to pay more than the initial amount borrowed over the course of the loan, because you also have to pay interest.

Game 2 - Additional Learning Content - Saving

How does the habit of saving help us?

- If we know that we have enough savings to cover an unexpected bill, for example fixing the car or replacing our broken laptop, then it means that we do not have to worry about how we are going to afford to pay for it. This creates peace of mind and allows us to be more financially free (we can invest our money or spend them on something that we really want without having financial problems in the future) Having savings may also mean that we do not need to borrow money and pay for credit. This can reduce stress and gives people more independence over their spending, because they do not have to go into debt.

Learn about budgeting

- Budgeting does not have to be complicated. In its simplest form, it is a list of what you need/want to spend compared against a list of what income you have.
- Having a budget means thinking carefully about the money we have and what we need and want to spend our money on. Whilst we have choices around money, it's incredibly important to prioritize our spending so that we don't spend more than we have and fall into debt.

Game 2 - Additional Learning Content - Saving

Imagine you could save €2 each school day, or your parents gave you an allowance of €10 each week. How much money would you have when you turned 18?

Answer: If you started saving at 11 years old, you would have roughly €3.800 by the time you were 18, from your savings alone. If you deposited them in a savings account with 2% interest, you would have €4.100.

Other imaginary situations (saving from 15 to 30 years old):

1. Saving €5 each day or €150 each month and gaining 3% interest on them: After 15 years (when you are 30) that would mean roughly €34.000 Fun fact: here, without the 3% interest you would only have €27.000

2. Saving €10 each week or €40 each month gaining 3% interest on them: After 15 years (when you are 30) that would mean roughly €9.000 Fun fact: here, without the 3% interest you would only have €7.200

In contrast, how would not thinking about a savings plan affect your financial well-being at 30?

Here, we notice how differences in attitude towards saving a very small ammount of money each day/week can affect people's financial situation later on.

Game 3 - Additional Learning Content - Phishing

Many people tend to be more inclined to trust a text message than an email and people are less aware of the security risks involved with clicking on links in text messages.

Keeping your financial information safe from third parties is an important skill to practice. Here are a few ways to do it:

1. Don't give out passwords: This might sound like a no-brainer, but it's important to stress out: you should never give your password to anyone, not even a trusted friend, for any reason.
2. Verify any contact you receive from a financial institution: Did you get a call or email from someone claiming to be from your financial institution? Did this person want you to provide any personal information? If you're unsure who the person actually is, hang up the phone, or don't return the email. Instead, take the contact information to your actual financial institution and ask them to verify it was them.
3. Take extra caution when using public or unsecured Wi-Fi networks: Use these networks only for things like reading the news and your favorite blogs and avoid things like logging in to online banking or making a transaction that involves entering your credit or debit card information.
4. Remember, when creating an online bank account with your bank of choice, you are required to set up a password or a PIN. If strangers find your PIN or guess it because it is too weak (for example it only contains your birthday date), they could access your bank account.

Game 3 - Additional Learning Content - Phishing

The Bank also gives you some more tips on using E-mail safely:

- Never open suspicious attachments
- Don't click on links from unknown senders
- Never respond to E-mails or links asking you to verify account information
- Never respond to spam or junk E-mail
- Mark malicious E-mail as spam

Many hackers use social networking sites like Facebook to get information about you that can be used to answer security questions.

Examples of phishing e-mails or SMS messages:

- Too good to be true offers
- A sense of urgency
- Exciting attachments or promotions
- Disguised hyperlinks
- Links that do not match the official website of the company
